DHA.mil
FACT SHEET

DHA.mil is the official website of the Defense Health Agency. It's designed to showcase the work and legacy of the agency with a consistent brand and tone, straightforward navigation, and engaging imagery while providing timely and relevant information to stakeholders who engage with DHA on a regular basis.

The site is geared for three primary audiences: current and prospective staff, vendors seeking business opportunities, and beneficiaries looking for health care information.

DHA.mil offers secure, accessible, and mobile-friendly access to vital military health care resources. It complies with Department of Defense security standards and accessibility requirements, ensuring a user-friendly experience for all visitors. The site features a customizable content management system, allowing for quick and flexible updates. With its modular design and efficient search tools, visitors can easily access up-to-date content and comprehensive resources for military personnel and their families.

The Web & Mobile Technology Program Management Office, in collaboration with the Directors' Communications and Public Affairs Division, is responsible for all aspects of development and maintenance of DHA.mil.
